

Hi again!

October 2, 2008

Well, summer is over, school is back in session, and before you know it, the bowling season will be upon us. But before that happens, the Michigan High School Interscholastic Bowling Coaches Association would like you to join them for a pre-season tune-up!

On Saturday, November 1st, the MHSIBCA is hosting a Coaching Clinic at Northern Lanes Recreation in Sanford (Midland), MI. This year's guest clinician is Jeri Edwards. The first Illinois State High School Individual Champion. She and her teammates from Rich Central HS won the team title as well. After a very successful collegiate and professional career, she has become one of the top coaches in the nation, and is presently the head coach for Team USA. She and Fred Borden have also teamed together to develop MyBowlingCoach.com, a new on-line source of bowling instruction and information. I'm sure she'll fill us in on her present experiences, and on how she got to where she is today.

The MHSIBCA is thrilled that Jeri will be sharing her expertise with us at our upcoming coaching clinic. The education committee has worked hard to provide this opportunity for you. We hope that all of you will be able to attend this very affordable clinic. Please keep in mind that your opinion and knowledge is important to our association and we would welcome anyone wanting to join any of our committees in the association.

Lastly, there is strength in numbers! Please share this information with your assistant coaches. For just $35 per person, we hope that many programs will be able to bring several coaches to the clinic this year. It looks to be very informative and entertaining.

We look forward to seeing you on November 1st.

Sincerely,

The MHSIBCA invites you to attend the upcoming Coaching Clinic presented by Team USA Head Coach Jeri Edwards!

Jeri Edwards

A native of Matteson, IL, Edwards has dedicated more than 25 years to the sport of bowling. The USBC Coaching Gold-level coach served two stints as a Team USA assistant coach – 1991-96 and 2000-03 – and was head coach of Junior Team USA in 2002 and 2003.

Edwards spent five years on the Ladies Professional Bowlers Tour, winning the 1990 Greater Atlanta Open, and was a 1988 Women's International Bowling Congress Championship Tournament team champion. She competed collegiately at Penn State University, where she earned a degree in marketing, and helped lead Rich Central High School to the 1980 IHSA state championship, while winning the first IHSA Individual state championship.

She replaced longtime friend and Team USA head coach Fred Borden, who retired in 2003. From the Borden/Edwards School of Bowling at Stonehedge Place in Akron, Ohio, to co-hosting the "Bowling Rocks" and "Learn the Curve" instructional videos designed for kids and adults, the duo has been at the coaching forefront for years.
